The Compiler of this Book is well aware of the prejudice existing in the minds of many, against all species of medical advertisements, and, although the main object of this work is advertising, he flatters himself that they are so interspersed with pleasing and valuable items, that it will be read and used as a reference by all.

The receipts here published, have been selected with the greatest care and expense, from the very best works. They are not imaginary, but are of real, practical value, and can be implicitly relied upon.

DR. COLBY'S
Anti-Costive and Tonic Pills.

TO THE PUBLIC!!

For many years past I have devoted special attention to the functions and diseases of the digestive organs, and have been particularly impressed by the fact, that digestive weakness and irritability are fearfully extending. Intemperate and irregular living, and the thousand-and-one modes by which all the powers of body and mind are over-stimulated and over-tasked, have wrought an alarming change on the constitution and temperament of the people. Healthy digestion, which is the source and sine quâ non of all sound health, is already almost unknown. Whoever fails to recognize the change and the effects of over-civilized and artificial habits of life, is incompetent to treat successfully the prevailing diseases and ailments of the present day.

Entertaining these views respecting the effects of crude and irritating cathartics

To Bleach Cotton.—For six pounds of goods take one-half pound of Chloride-Lime; pour on two quarts of boiling water, let it settle, strain into five pails of soft water; boil the cotton a short time in soap suds; put it in the lime mixture for twenty minutes, stirring often; take it out and rinse thoroughly in clean soft water.

One of our exchanges has the following:—Not long since a man was drowned in the river, close by. Three weeks or more elapsed before the body was found; when discovered it was full of Eels. Taking it home to the sorrowing wife they told her the circumstances as gently as possible. "Well, never mind," said she, "it can't be helped; give me the eels and set him again."

The hottest day this year, was the 6th of June, when the maximum temperature was 80 degrees.

"Just what we need," is the testimony of thousands who have used DR. COLBY'S PILLS. They remove diseases by restoring the stomach, liver and bowels to healthy action. There is nothing like them for purifying the blood and cleansing the system.

upon constitutions already too sensitive and irritated, I have labored long to construct a remedy which should produce the essential good effects of cathartics without their deleterious influence. The result of these efforts is the pill which is now offered to the public. I can in truth claim this pill to be the result of close and careful observations extending through a period of nearly forty years, for during that whole period I have endeavored in my practice to neutralize, modify, and counteract the injurious effects of cathartics, retaining at the same time their useful properties.

These Pills are administered with safety and advantage to patients who can use no other cathartics, and only the mildest tonics. Instead of thin and watery discharges, attended with griping pains, and followed by weakness and more confirmed constipation, their usual effects are more copious natural evacuations, without the least irritation, tenesmus or other disagreeable sensation, succeeded by restored appetite, renewed tonicity and strength of all the functions of digestion. The formula from which they are prepared has been subjected to various modifications during the past five years, for during that time I have carefully watched their effects in almost every instance in which they have been administered, with a view to their adaptation to the greatest number of cases. And here I would caution all who are affected with special diseases against trusting to this or any other general remedy, but rather go at once to your physician, who will prescribe what is specially adapted to your case.

I bespeak a fair and impartial test of these Pills, and let them be sanctioned or condemned according to their merits. I hope they will be recognized by the profession as a valuable remedy, and ordered as freely as any other article from the druggist.

MAXIMS OF ORDER AND NEATNESS.

1. Perform every operation in proper season.
2. Perform every operation in the best manner.
3. Complete every part of an operation as you proceed.
4. Finish one job before you begin another.
5. Leave off your work and tools in an orderly manner.
6. Clean every tool when you leave off work.
7. Return every tool and implement to its place at night.

MESSRS S. J. FOSS & Co.

GENTLEMEN,—I consider DR. COLBY'S PILLS the best medicine in the world. The Rev. T. Jackson, and many others of my customers, speak very highly of them as a universal family remedy.

COSTIVENESS.

Few disorders are more common and give rise to more distressing forms of disease than costiveness. Daily and complete evacuation of the bowels is absolutely necessary to health. In this complaint, the discharges are not always less frequent than they should be, but they are less in quantity, are compact and hard, and are passed by hard straining and sometimes with considerable pain.

SYMPTOMS.—Headache, dizziness, feverishness, bad feeling in the head not easily described, loss of appetite, sometimes nausea, but little desire to go to stool, a weight and heaviness about the lower part of the belly, and a sense of confinement over the whole parts of the body.

TREATMENT.—Take a full dose of Colby's Pills, or enough to operate once or twice, and for eight or ten days take one Pill at bed time, or enough to secure one full evacuation of the bowels the next morning; omit for one day, but do not fail to make the attempt to evacuate at the same hour the pill operated the day before; if successful repeat the next morning, and so continue to do at the same hour every day. If not successful continue the use of the Pill, until the habit is secure.

Having long been acquainted with Dr. Colby, I most cheerfully certify to his high standing as a practitioner, and as a gentleman of unexceptionable character.

He has presented a happy combination of therapeutical agents, which is valuable as a cathartic and tonic. Having tried it myself, and knowing the ingredients, I can earnestly recommend it for its excellent qualities.

ROCK ISLAND, STANSTEAD, JAN. 18TH, 1865.

I have for years been troubled with costiveness, and some four years since was attacked with paralysis, since which I have taken Dr. Colby's Pills every night, experiencing great relief both from paralysis and costiveness, without increase of dose from the commencement, and I most cheerfully recommend them to the public.

To Color Scarlet.—For each pound of goods take one ounce of powdered Cochineal, one oz. of Cream of Tartar, two oz. Muric acid. Dissolve the Cochineal in water enough to cover the goods with the aid of heat, add the Muric acid, boil the goods in this solution for fifteen minutes, rinse them in water in which the Cream of Tartar has been previously dissolved. Result beautiful Scarlet.

DR. COLBY: Dear Sir,—I am happy to inform you of the admirable effect of your "ANTI-COSTIVE AND TONIC PILLS" in the cure of my wife. She commenced taking them in July last, when recovering from a severe and protracted sickness, unable to bear ordinary cathartics. Although the pills were taken daily, no objectionable results followed, but under their use she rapidly recovered health and strength.

!The Blood.

But if the blood becomes clogged with impurities, disease of the flesh and death is the result ! Some of the symptoms of impure blood are blotches, pimples, yellowness of the skin, darkness round the eyes, and loss of appetite. In cases of this kind, use Dr. Colby's Pills.

From their peculiar combination they act directly on the secretions, purify the blood, and cleanse the system from all disease.

Liver Complaint.—The liver is the largest gland in the body. It lies in the right side, and at the top of the great abdominal cavity, directly under the midriff, and lapping upon the stomach ; its office is to take the superabundant carbon out of the blood. This carbon it unites with the other elements and forms bile, the peculiar bitter substance which is poured into the upper bowel, and greatly aids digestion.

Some of the symptoms of derangement of the liver are, a sense of fulness and weight in the right side, uncomfortable sensation when lying on the left side, yellowness of the skin and urine, bowels irregular, loose or costive, bad taste in the morning. Treatment.—Take two to four DR. COLBY'S PILLS at night for three nights, then continue with one pill at bed-time until the symptoms are removed. If there is much pain in the region of the liver, the part may be rubbed daily with Jacobs' Rheumatic Liquid, which will afford relief.

Read the following from a medical gentleman of the highest standing :

MELBOURNE, C.E., March 9th, 1861.

MR. W. B. COLBY : Dear Sir,—Yours, dated 7th inst., and enclosing formula of your father's Pills, was duly received this morning, and in reply permit me to tender my thanks for the half dozen boxes pills left with me for trial, as also for the enclosed formula. Although I have used all the pills left with me, and have been very highly pleased with their therapeutical operation, I am induced to form a still more favorable opinion of the pills after an examination of the formula. The combination of medicinal agents is one evidently entitling its originator to be considered thoroughly conversant with the properties of medicines. It is only to be regretted that the great number of the useless and in many cases injurious "Quack Nostrums" in our country should have a tendency to prejudice the public mind against such an eminently useful and scientific medicine—DR. COLBY'S ANTI-COSTIVE AND TONIC PILLS.

I shall at all times feel happy and safe in recommending them in all cases for which they are recommended by the manufacturer. Wishing all success,

I remain, dear sir, your obedient servant,

SAMUEL S. BOWERS.

In the year 1821, Dr. Moses F. Colby received the degree of M.D. at the Medical Institution in which I was one of the teachers. Since that time I have had professional correspondence with Dr C., & it gives me pleasure to say, that I have all along regarded him as holding an elevated position among the thinking members of the Medical profession.

There is a very droll story of a doctor who went to settle in a village out West, and on the first night of his arrival was sent for to attend a sick child. He looked at the little sufferer very attentively, and then delivered this oracular opinion:—"This hyar babe's got the small-pox; and I ain't posted up to pustules. We must approach this case by circular treatment. You will give the little cuss this draught. That'll send him into fits. Then send for me, I'm a stunner on fits."

WASHINGTON CITY, April 14, 1860.

From my personal acquaintance with Dr. M. F. Colby, of Stanstead, Que., and from my knowledge of his distinguished reputation and position in his profession, I should regard any medical preparation or prescription of his, as entitled to the highest confidence and estimation.

J. COLLAMER, (U.S. Senator, from Vermont, late Post-master General, U.S.A.)

DARTMOUTH COLLEGE, April 6, 1860.

DR. COLBY, of Stanstead, Que., is a Physician of high standing. He has earned a wide reputation for science and skill, in a long course of dignified and successful practice in his profession. It gives me pleasure to commend him. I judge him to be worthy of perfect confidence, and that any of his medicines or prescriptions would be fully answerable to his recommendations. I doubt not that they would be worthy to take the place of the many unlicensed specifics which are now extensively impairing the public health, and swelling the bills of mortality.

Norwegian Cure for Bone Spavin.—Take dog's grease, $\frac{1}{2}$ pt. ; best oil origanum, $1\frac{1}{2}$ oz. ; pulverized cantharides, $\frac{1}{2}$ oz. Mix and apply each morning for three mornings, and heat it in with a hot iron each time : then skip three mornings and apply again as before, until it has been applied nine times, after which wait about ten days, and if it is not all gone, go over again in the same way. Certain cure in first stages.

To remove Horses from Burning Buildings.—Blindfold them perfectly, and by gentle usage they may be easily led out. If you like, you may also throw the harness upon them.

To prevent Snow-balls on Horses' Feet.—Clean their hoofs well, and rub with soft-soap before going out in the snow.

Nameless Diseases.—Who has not often, often experienced a feeling of sickness, yet quite unable to describe its precise nature or locality ? no acute pain or alarming symptoms, but a consciousness of something wrong. It is but one of nature's reminders, warning us of the neglect of some organic law, causing an unnatural condition of one or more of the bodily organs. Dr. Colby's Anti-Costive and Tonic Pills just meet this want; by supplying and assisting nature in her just demands, stimulating the organs to a perfect performance of their proper functions.

To Cure Scratches on Horses.—First wash the affected parts thoroughly with Castile soap and water, wipe dry, and bathe with Jacobs' Rheumatic Liquid.

Close Packing.—During the last homeward trip of a vessel from Aspinwall, the steerage passengers were so numerous as to make them uncomfortable. As for sleeping accommodation, it was aptly described by a Californian, who approached the captain and said : " I should like a sleeping berth, if you please." " Why, where have you been sleeping for the last ten nights since we left ?" " Wa'll, I've been sleeping atop a sick man, but he has got better now, and won't stand it no longer."

Good Vinegar in Three Weeks.—Molasses, 1 qt. ; yeast, 1 pt. ; warm Rain water, 3 gals. Put all in a jug or keg and tie a piece of gauze over the bung. In hot weather set it in the sun ; in cold weather set it by the stove, and in three weeks you will have good vinegar.

Health and Longevity.

It is a common remark, and experience has proved the fact beyond dispute, that those who are attentive to keeping the stomach and bowels in proper order, preserve health, prevent disease, and generally attain cheerful and healthy old age; and for that truly desirable purpose Dr. Colby's Anti-Costive and Tonic Pills are peculiarly adapted; they have in all cases proved superior to any other medicine in the case of stomach and liver complaints, loss of appetite, dyspepsia or indigestion, sensation of fulness, oppression after meals, flatulence, shortness of breath, and disorders incident to the stomach and bowels, and an excellent restorative after any excess or too frequent indulgence at the table, as they gently cleanse the bowels, strengthen the stomach, improve the digestion, and invigorate the whole constitution.

Females who value good health should never be without them, as they purify the blood, remove obstructions, and give the skin a beautiful, clear healthy and blooming appearance. Persons of a plethoric habit, who are subject to fits, palpitation of the heart, giddiness, headache, dimness of sight or drowsiness, from too great a flow of blood to the head, should take them frequently; they are so mild and gentle in their action, that children and persons of all ages may take them at any time, as they do not contain mercury or any ingredient that requires confinement or change of diet. Cholera morbus, cramps, spasms, and all other alarming complaints which so often prove fatal, may be cured or prevented by a timely use of Dr. Colby's Pills, and in connection with Jacobs' Rheumatic Liquid, that wonderful combination of remedial agents form a certain protection against a large majority of the maladies to which we are daily liable.

Simple preventive of Sunstroke.—Green forest leaves in the crown of the hat, are a cheap, simple and easily obtained, especially in the country, prevention of sunstroke. We speak from experience, having often tested the remedy while working under a noonday sun in Ohio. The sap of the leaves counteracts the heat, and preserves the cranium cool. Light-colored coverings for the head should be worn, as white reflects, while black absorbs the heat. The state of the blood has much to do with sunstroke.

Rules for resuscitating the drowned.

Remember that the patient must be treated instantly and on the spot where rescued. He must be freely exposed to the open air; loosen the clothing so as to freely expose the neck and chest. All persons not needed for saving him should avoid crowding around.

Let the throat and mouth be cleansed by gently placing the patient's face downwards, with one of his wrists under his forehead. Quickly wipe and cleanse the mouth, and if the patient does not breathe, immediately begin the following movements:

Position.—Place the patient on his back, with shoulders raised and supported on a folded coat or some kind of a pillow.

To keep up a free entrance of air into the wind pipe, let one person at the patient's head grasp the tongue gently and firmly, with his fingers covered with a handkerchief, and drawing it out beyond the lips; then either hold it or press the under jaw up so as to retain the tongue protruding from the mouth; but it is better to hold it in that position with the hand. To produce and imitate the movements of breathing, raise the patient's extended arms upward to the sides of his head, and then pull them steadily, firmly and slowly, outward and forward. Next turn down the arms by the patient's sides, and bring them closely and firmly across the pit of the stomach, and press them and the sides and front of the chest gently but strongly for a moment, then quickly begin to repeat the first movement.

Let these two kinds of movements be made very deliberately and without ceasing until the patient breathes, and let the two movements be repeated about twelve or fifteen times a minute, but not more rapidly, remembering that to thoroughly fill the lungs with air is the object of the first or upward and outward movement ; and to expel as much air as possible is, the object of the second or downward motion and pressure. This artificial respiration should be steadily kept up for forty minutes, or more when the patient appears not to breathe ; and after the natural breathing begins let this same motion be very gently continued, and let the proper stimulants be given in the intervals.

If help and blankets are at hand, have the body stripped and wrapped in blankets, but do not allow the movements to be stopped. Bystanders can supply dry clothing, and the assistants should briskly rub the feet and legs, pressing them firmly and rubbing them upward while the movements of the arms and chest are going on. Apply hartshorn on a feather within the nostrils occasionally, and sprinkle or lightly dash cold water on the face and neck. The legs and feet may be rubbed and wrapped in hot blankets, if they are blue or cold, or if the weather is cold.

Give brandy by the teaspoonful, or hot sling two or three times a minute, until the beating of the pulse can be felt at the wrist, but be careful and not give more of the stimulant than is necessary. Warmth should be kept up in the feet and legs, and as soon as the patient breathes naturally, let him be carefully moved to a house and be placed in a bed under medical care.

If there is help enough at hand when the patient is taken from the water, or afterwards, let the nearest physician be called, but let there be no waiting for a physician. Do the best that can be done methodically and deliberately according to the foregoing rules.

* This address to the toothache was written by Burns, before JACOBS' RHEUMATIC LIQUID was discovered, otherwise we never should have had this beautiful poem.

COMPTON, Nov. 4th, 1868.

I feel it my duty to cite this for the public good, JACOBS' RHEUMATIC LIQUID cured me of chronic lameness of the back, of more than three years standing. I have used it in my family with excellent effect.

To my knowledge it is highly valued by a large circle of acquaintances on this and adjoining circuits.

REV. S. J. PHILLIPS.

Hints on Spectacles.—There is a common notion that the use of spectacles should be put off as long as possible ; but such is a great mistake, leading often to impaired vision for life, and is even more injurious than too varied employment.

Timely assistance relieves the eye, and diminishes the tendency to flattening, whereas, should the use of the spectacle be longer postponed, the eye changes rapidly, and when the optician is at last consulted, it is found that a deeper focus spectacle must be used than usual for the first pair, and even these suit but for a short time, and have to be again exchanged for those of a still deeper power ; and these changes become a matter of necessity which, unless judiciously checked, continue during life.

It is of the greatest importance that near and distant objects should be equally examined so that the eye may preserve the fullest power of adjustment, this should be done by the unaided eye alone when it is possible ; but the short-sighted should always wear spectacles, as the power to see at different distances becomes paralyzed, and different spectacles for near and distant objects will be required.

Spectacles should only be worn to compensate for any deficiency or excess of refractive power of the eye, and this deficiency or excess should be most carefully ascertained by the use of the oetometer in order to guide us as to the required focus.

Use the softest wash leather to wipe your spectacles, and if the lens become scratched have them exchanged at once.

Superior Cologne.—Oil of Bergamot, Oil of Lemon, Oil of best English Lavender, of each 3 drachms ; Rosemary, 1½ drachms ; Essence of Cinnamon, twenty drops ; Essence of Cloves, twenty drops ; Musk, three grains ; alcohol 3 pts., equal to the best French.

From the Rev. T. W. CONSTABLE, of Clarenceville, dated September 19th, 1861.—I have found your Liquid to be one of the best medicines in use for Lumbago and kindred Rheumatic affections, also for all diseases of the throat.

To Take Stains out of Silk.—Mix together in a phial, 2 oz. of essence of lemon, and 1 oz. of oil of turpentine. Grease, and other spots, are to be rubbed gently with a linen rag dipped in the above composition.

A little misery sweetens life, it is the salt that makes it palatable and wholesome ; the shade that returns and sets off the noonday brilliancy of the sunshine.

A man in Chicago was prosecuted for kicking his wife out of bed. His counsel admitted the charge, but said there were extenuating circumstances. "What are they," asked the magistrate. "She persistently scratched his back with a curry comb."

Hunt's Empire Hair Gloss is the best Hair dressing known.—Colby's Pills are recommended by all Medical Men who know the formula.

No one who knows its value will be without Jacob's Liquid.—Ladies who use Hunt's Hair Gloss have beautiful Hair.

Hunt's Hair Gloss, a large bottle for 25 cts.—Buy it, try it, and you'll like it, Jacob's Liquid.

Travellers by sea and land should provide themselves with JACOBS' RHEUMATIC LIQUID, and DR. COLBY'S ANTI-COSTIVE AND TONIC PILLS. Away from friends, physicians, and all other sources of relief in sickness, in these they may feel secure and well supplied. Costiveness, the common difficulty of travellers, should never be neglected, and the removal of that bilious irritation which unavoidably accompanies irregular living, is indispensable both to health and comfort. As preventive of contagious diseases, and the fever incidental in warm climates, JACOBS' RHEUMATIC LIQUID has acquired the highest reputation. In fact they constitute the only medicine chest for any journey in any country.

Sensible Advice.—Prof. Silliman, of New Haven, gives the following sensible advice to young men:—If, therefore, you wish a clear mind and strong muscle, quiet nerves, long life, and power prolonged in old age, permit me to say, although I am not going to give a temperance lecture, avoid all drinks but water and mild infusions of that fluid; shun tobacco, opium, and everything else that disturbs the normal state of the system; rely upon nutritious food and mild diluted drinks, of which water is the base, and you will need nothing beyond these things except rest, and due moral regulation of all your powers, to give you a long, happy, and useful life, and a serene evening at its close.

GENTS,—I take great pleasure in testifying to the extraordinary virtues of DR. COLBY'S ANTI-COSTIVE AND TONIC PILLS in sea sickness. Three or four of my fellow passengers in crossing the Atlantic in 1867, suffered the most excruciating tortures from that disgusting disease, until I divided among them the contents of a box of COLBY'S PILLS, with which I had provided myself. In every case, one or two doses restored to health and comfort.

Relation of Beards and Eyes.—There is an intimate connection between the nerves and muscles of the face and eyes, and allowing the beard to grow strengthens the eyes. It is said that surgeons in the French army, have proved by experiment in Africa, that soldiers wearing their beards, are much less liable to disease of the eye, and it is generally conceded, that if the custom is to wear the beard, the eye retains its lustre and brilliancy much longer.

Superior Liquid Blacking for Boots, Harness, &c.—One pint of Alcohol, two ounces of Gum Shellack, one ounce Gum Camphor, half an ounce Lampblack, will make a very superior liquid blacking.

Dyeing the Hair.—It may be stated, once for all, that this practice is decidedly injurious. It may fail altogether in producing the desired result; it is never unattended by a certain amount of unpleasant circumstances, and frequently with evil results.

In the first place, the alteration of the abnormal color, so far as the general aspect of the face is concerned, has an effect the very reverse of that which is intended. Every constituent part of man tends to make the human machine one harmonious whole—the figure, the stature, the skin, the hair, the gait, &c.

Fair hair is associated with a sanguinous and lymphatic temperament, a fine and white skin, blue eyes, and a soft and mild expression. Black hair, on the contrary, is generally connected with a bilious habit of body, a muscular and nervous temperament, a dark and yellowish skin, wolf black eyes, and a bold, proud air. Red hair is associated with a peculiar constitution, although closely approaching to the fair type. In this variety the skin is transparent, fresh, and presents a peculiar limpidity which belongs exclusively to the color of hair mentioned.

To what absurd contrast, then, are those persons not exposed who, from idle vanity, attempt to break the bond of union which exists between the hair and the rest of the body. If, then, from the impression that red hair is a disfigurement, it is colored black, what relation can exist between this new color, and the soft blue eye, and the skin so fair and so susceptible, that the sun's rays seem to penetrate it, in the form of those lentiginous spots commonly called freckles?

Superior Condition Powder.—Fenugreek, 1 lb.; sulphur, 1 lb.; saltpetre, $\frac{1}{2}$ lb.; salamoniack, $\frac{1}{4}$ lb.; antimony, $\frac{1}{4}$ lb.; salt 2 oz.; powder coarsely and mix. Dose—A tablespoonful three times a day.

Oaths are vulgar, senseless, offensive, impious; like obscene words, they leave a noisome trail upon the lips and a stamp of odium upon the soul. They are inexcusable; they gratify no sense, while they outrage taste and dignity.

A work of art—A widow trying to get a husband.

" Her flowing locks, the raven's wing,
Adown her neck and bosom hing;
How sweet unto that breast to cling,
And round that neck entwine her!
Her lips are roses wat' wi' dew,
O, what a feast her bonnie mou'!
Her cheeks a mair celestial hue,
A crimson still diviner!"—BURNS.

For wisdom is better than riches; and all the things that may be desired are not to be compared to it.

These objections do not apply with equal force to those cases where the object is merely to disguise partial discoloration of the hair; but at the same time, it is not always easy to produce the exact shade of the original color, and when the hair begins to grow, this partial discoloration re-appears and discloses the dye.

Finally, when this discoloration is widely diffused over the head, and requires an extensive application of the dye, in the case of an old man for example, the hair will then present a lustre, brilliancy and tint, in melancholy contradistinction with the faded and wrinkled skin, dull leaden eyes, furrowed cheek, and broken tottering gait. Besides, experience has sufficiently established the fact, that the ingredients of which the dyes are composed, are far from being free from danger and inconvenience. The texture of the hair itself is deteriorated by them.

Compounded as they are generally, of very active ingredients, they burn the hair, alter the piliferous capsule, arrest the natural secretion of the hair, and favor the production of baldness. They also frequently produce inflammation of the scalp. I have met with many cases in which females, who had been in the habit of using these dyes, were reduced to the sad alternative of maintaining a disagreeable and painful eruption, the result of the ingredients employed, or to abandon the disguise they were intended to produce. The color of the hair depends on the fluid contained in the pith, and varies, as before stated, according to the temperament of the individual. There are two causes which act in turning the hair grey. The first is the defective secretion of the coloring fluids; the second, the canals, which convey the fluid into the hair, become obliterated. In the first instance the hair will remain, in the second it dies, and drops out, the cuticle of the scalp grows over the canals, which are soon obliterated, and the head becomes bald.

Hence old people are almost without exception grey, and very frequently bald, as the glands of the hair decay with other parts of the body. Grey hairs are honorable. Although it is not only right, but desirable to prevent the hair from premature decay, what folly to attempt to deceive ourselves and others into the belief that we are not growing old; and it is only an attempt, for no one is deceived.

"Lassie wi' the lint white locks,
Bonnie lassie, artless lassie,
Will thou wi' me tent the flocks?
Will thou be my dearie, O?
Now nature cleeds the flowery lea,
And a' is young and sweet like thee;
O wilt thou share its joy wi' me,
And say thoult be my dearie, O?"—BURNS.

If the hair has once turned grey, no preparation in the world will restore the color glands to activity, hence, all hair restorers change the color of the hair, simply by forming a coloring matter on the hair itself. And if the follicles and glands are destroyed, which is indicated by a smooth, shining appearance of the scalp, nothing yet discovered will produce a new growth of hair, and all preparations that profess to do either of these things are impositions.

But while we should not attempt to change the course of nature, by counterfeiting youth, it is not only proper but highly desirable to preserve natural beauty as long as possible.

With this end in view we have labored long and earnestly in connection with some of the greatest savons of the age to produce a preparation for the hair, which would preserve the "glory of woman" in its natural state of luxuriance and beauty. The result is, HUNT'S EMPIRE HAIR GLOSS, which we offer to the public with the fullest confidence that it will answer the ends above stated; we have placed the price within the reach of all, and feel assured that every one who tries it will pronounce it all we recommend.

Its application will stimulate and preserve the glands in their natural state, thus rendering the hair soft, luxuriant and beautiful.

"Sae flaxen were her ringlets,
Her eyebrows of a darker hue,
Bewitchingly o'er arching
Twa laughin' een o' bonnie blue.
Her smiling sae wyling,

What pleasure, what treasure,
Unto these rosy lips to grow."—BURNS.

"Year after year unto her feet,
She lying on her couch alone,
Across the purple coverlet,
The maiden's jet-black hair has grown.
On either side her trauced form,
Forth shining from a braid of pearl;
The slumberous light is rich and warm,
And moves not a rounded curl."

Sharpening Edge Tools.—The Mark Lane Express translates the following from a German scientific journal, for the benefit of mechanics and agricultural laborers: "It has long been known that the simplest method of sharpening a razor is to put it for half an hour in water to which has been added one-twentieth of its weight of muriatic or sulphuric acid, then lightly wipe it off, and after a few hours set it on a hone. The acid here supplies the place of a whetstone by corroding the whole surface uniformly, so that nothing further than a smooth polish is necessary. The process never injures good blades, while badly hardened ones are frequently improved by it, although the cause of such improvement remains unexplained. Of late this process has been applied to many other cutting implements. The workman at the beginning of his noon spell, or when he leaves off in the evening, moistens the blades of his tools with water acidified as above, the cost of which is almost nothing. This saves the consumption of time and labor in whetting, which, moreover, speedily wears out the blades. The mode of sharpening here indicated would be found specially advantageous for sickles and scythes."

From experience as well as from testimony of others, I judge JACOBS' RHEUMATIC LIQUID to be a superior article to Perry Davis' Pain Killer.

COLBY'S PILLS.

What COLBY'S PILLS alone can do,
Man testifies and woman, too,
For thousands cry, with eager breath,
They saved me from disease and death.
When your bowels will not act,
Then you need them, "that's a fact."
When your breath is foul—impure,
They will cleanse it "sartin, sure."
When your head begins to ache,
They will stop it—"no mistake."

"No appetite." Is this your care?
They'll make you hungry as a bear;
Jaundice's horrors do you know?
They will bleach you white as snow.
When the bile no longer runs,
They will start it "sure as guns."
All ye ailing, give me heed,
Tis COLBY'S PILLS your systems need.
Immense the run for COLBY'S PILLS,
Which cure so many woful ills.

TO REMOVE WARTS.—Touch them daily with strong acetic Acid. In a short time they will commence to dry up and will soon entirely disappear. If the Acid makes them very sore it had better be omitted for a day or two.

CORNES may be cured in the same manner.

BAKING POWDER.—Baking soda 6 oz.; cream of tartar 8 oz.; dry them thoroughly; mix and keep dry in bottles or boxes.

SCOURING LIQUID.—For brass door-knobs, &c., oil of vitriol 1 oz.; sweet oil $\frac{1}{2}$ gill; pulverized rotten stone 1 gill; rain water $1\frac{1}{2}$ pints; mix and shake as used.

SILVERING POWDER.—For copper-plated goods, &c., nitrate of silver and common salt, of each 30 grains; cream of tartar $3\frac{1}{2}$ drs.; powder finely, and bottle for use. The article to be silvered must first be cleaned with the Scouring Liquid, then moisten a little of the powder, and rub it on thoroughly with a piece of buckskin.

FURNITURE POLISH.—Alcohol $1\frac{1}{2}$ oz.; spirit of salt $1\frac{1}{2}$ oz.; linseed oil 8 oz.; best vinegar $\frac{1}{2}$ pint; butter of antimony $1\frac{1}{2}$ oz.; mix, putting in the vinegar last; apply with a soft rag, rubbing well.

LIQUID GLUE.—Fill a bottle two-thirds full of best English glue, fill up with whiskey, set it in a warm place till dissolved.

STICKING SALVE.—For sores, ulcers, &c., rosin 5 lbs.; Burgundy pitch, beeswax, and mutton tallow, of each $\frac{1}{2}$ lb.; oil of hemlock, balsam of fir, oil origanum, oil red cedar, and Venice turpentine, of each 1 oz.; oil wormwood $\frac{1}{2}$ oz.; melt the solids, and add the oils; mix thoroughly, pour into cold water, and work as wax until cool enough to roll.

ANOTHER.—Rosin 3 lbs.; mutton tallow and beeswax, of each $\frac{1}{2}$ lb.; melt together, pour into cold water, and work till cool enough to roll.

RAW POTATO POULTICE.—For inflamed eyes, is one of the very best applications for recent cases, scraping fine and applying frequently.

DR. COLBY'S ANTI-COSTIVE & TONIC PILLS, SUGAR COATED,

Are PURELY VEGETABLE, and afford immediate and permanent relief for all diseases arising from IMPURE BLOOD, INDIGESTION, CONSTIPATION, and any derangement of the LIVER. They are mild but efficacious in operation; do not sicken, but on the contrary, may be taken by the most delicate with perfect safety; and in nearly every case with the most happy effects.

Unlike any other advertised medicine, they receive the unqualified approbation of nearly every medical man to whom the formula has been submitted. The undersigned Physicians cheerfully certify to the high professional standing of Dr. Colby, of Stanstead, one of the oldest and best physicians, and to the excellent qualities of his ANTI-COSTIVE AND TONIC PILLS, which we have used in our practice, and highly approve:— E. D. Worthington, M.D., F. J. Austin, M.D., Sherbrooke; J. H. Gibson, M.D., Dunham; C. E. Cotton, M.D., Cowansville; Charles Brown, M.D., Cowansville; S. S. Foster, M.D., Brome; J. C. Butler, M.D., Waterloo; John Erskine, M.D., Waterloo; Norman Cleveland, M.D., Barnston; N. Jenks, M.D., Barnston; C. W. Cowles, M.D., Stanstead; John Meigs, M.D., Stanstead; Joseph Breadon, M.D., Surgeon, R. N.; Benjamin Damon, M.D., Coaticook; Lemuel Richmond, M.D., Derby Line; Winslow Lewis, M.D., Boston. Many more might be added, but the above is sufficient to satisfy all.

HUNT'S EMPIRE HAIR GLOSS.

IS purely Vegetable, and contains nothing which by any possibility can injure the Hair or Health, but on the contrary, is a pleasant, agreeable, and scientific preparation, and an indispensable article for the Toilet. It cleanses the scalp, renders the hair of a darker appearance, is easily applied, and will not stain the finest linen. Those using the Empire Hair Gloss will find that it renders the hardest and coarsest hair soft, glossy, fine and beautiful, disposing it to stay in any position in which it is placed. It prevents the hair from falling out, invigorates and strengthens it, and often produces a new growth of hair where it has already disappeared, by invigorating and restoring the skin, nerves, muscles, blood vessels and roots of the hair.

Hunt's Empire Gloss has been before the public but a short time, and has gained a reputation and a sale, wherever introduced, unprecedented by anything of the kind ever offered. It is the cheapest as well as the best. Buy it! try it! you'll like it, and recommend it to your friends. Sold by all leading Druggists and Perfumers.
